ARCH. FABIO BALDO

QUALITY IN LIVING

Efficient and comfortable homes

Research, development and attention to building details. Architect Fabio Baldo is the owner of an Architecture Studio which for a decade has been doing the planning of buildings for low energy consumption and high indoor air quality. Starting from training and study and from constant experimentation and research, he has developed in these years valid experience in the field of sustainable building that has also brought to the development of two patents for enclosed insulation with elevated thickness with total absence of thermal bridges. Since 2009 he has been the energy consultant for Casa Clima and confirms constant commitment in the realisation and restructuring of efficient and comfortable buildings.
